We have the Manua, Rose and Tuluifa Islands, and with the latter the great Pango-Pango harbor, which is the best island barbor in the South Pacific. This harbor, with the great coaling station and mayal station, will be of the greatest utility in the development of our trade with Australia and South Africa. Without disparagement of the Chinese trade, I think it may be truthfully said that the Australian and South African trade will develop more rapidly and always be the most important to as on the Pacific

Growing Trade of the Pacific.

"In China we shall have to educate the people up to the demand for American manufactures and other articles of commerce In Australia and South Africa we find more of European custom and a taste for European and American products, and we have to deal largely with people who speak our own language. The large number of Amer-leans and English set the fashion, and are walking advertisements for American and European products. The trade from our Pacific coast and Hawali is growing rapidly, and has the brightest prospects. It is only a matter of competing in quality and price with our European competitors, and this we are abundantly able to do.

The Samoan Islands themselves have not sufficient commercial terms.

The harbor of Pango-Pango is land-locked and a perfect refuge. Significance of the Settlement. The fact of the settlement being made as t has bears an important significance. Great Britain and Germany giving the United States first choice in the partition was a most flattering recognition of the United States as a world power. The parmount significance of this friendly adjustamount significance of this friendly adjustment of the matter is that Germany, Great Britain and the United States have decided to join hands in the development of the commerce of the world and in preserving peace. With these three powers acting tosether the peace of the world will be assured. It means that these three great competitors have resolved to cease the tremendous contention with each other for commercial supremacy in which they have been engaged, and that they will hereafter go hand in hand developing trade and exbeen engaged, and that they will hereafter go hand in hand developing trade and ex-tending dvilization. They find that they are heressary to each other and can act in har-mony to the advantage of ad. Great Brit-ain, the greatest naval power of the world; Germany, the greatest military power, and America, the great producer of all things needful-they can, combined, maintain themselves against all the rest of the world. They will not fight between themselves, and no other power or combination of powers no other power or combination of powers will date make war upon either. The singerity of Great Britain has been demonstrated and the sincerity of Germany canguot be doubted. From the point of view of the greatest selfishness it is the interest of each nation to be loval in its friendship. for the rest, and our of this combination must come as near a political millennium as we will ever see. The friendship of these three great nations is cemented and each

Great Britain and Germany, 'Creat Britain is amply repaid for the withdrawal of her claim upon Samoa in favor of Germany. It was a matter of paflonal pride with Germany, rather than of the value of the Islands, that made her cling so tenaciously to her Samoan interests. and she was disposed to be generous in order to preserve her colonial foothoid, and the consideration of greatest value given Great Britain is the sympathy of the Ger-mun government in the furtherance of her African policy. e United States will have no difficulty

A naval gov-ernor will probably be sent to the islands, as in the case of Guam, and the natives should, as they doubtless will, be permitted to preserve as far as possible their own methods of government and their most cherished customs. They are in no sense cherished customs. They are in no sense savages. Their school system is extensive, and during my time there I found few who could not read and write. THE ALASKAN BOUNDARY.

Segotiations to Permanently Adjust It Not Immediately Probable. The indications are decidedly against any reopening in the immediate future of negotiations for looking to a permanent adjustment of the Alaskan boundary question. It can be stated positively that there have been absolutely no exchanges on this subject between the two governments since the return to this country of Lord Pauncefote. The modus vivendi which was adopted to define temperarily the respective rights of the two parties is working satisfactorily. and there is no reason just now for pressing forward toward a solution of the per-manent boundary issue. The administra-tion has about convinced itself that there is little chance of securing the approval of the Senate for any permanent treaty defin-ing the boundary line which would secure the adhesion of Canada, and it is feared that even a moderate proposition, looking toward a compromise, could not be framed that would receive the approval of both

Philadelphia Exposition. S. Chance, the supervising special agent of the Treasury Department, has received a report saying that of 281 Chinese taken to the export exposition in Philadelphia only forty-nine are left. The others have sought homes in other cities of this country, and have thus escaped deportation. The result of this will be a strong recommendation by Secretary Gage that Congress shall not again authorize concessions to be granted to expositions for the bringing of Chinese into this country. At every exposition at which this has been done the Chinese have disappeared and not one has been deported.

The trouble is said to be in the law. The acts of Congress in case of all these expositions provide that the Treasury Department shall admit such a number of Chinese as the manager of the exposition and the concessionaire deem necessary. The Treasury is not authorized to fix a limit, as the law provides that not over 450 shall as the law provides that not over 450 shall be admitted. In the case of Philadelphia Manager Wilson and Yon Phon Lee, who Manager Wilson and Yon Phon Lee, who had been granted the concession, advised the Treasury that 400 Chinese would be brought in. Up to this time 281 have been brought in, with the results stated. The remainder are looked for at any time, and the customs officials will be compelled to admit all whose names have been sent to the immigration officials at San Francisco, notwithstanding it is well known that they are brought here for the sole purpose of being turned loose on the country.

The law says that the Chinese brought in shall be deported within three months

Treasury and other laws is You Phou Lee. He had the concession at Nashville and for other expositions. He is a deep and wily pigtail citizen. Every Chinaman he had at the Nashville exposition disappeared completely and not one was deported. Lee smiled and when Congress cave the same privilege to the Philadelphia exposition he privilege to the Philadelphia exposition he hied himself there and secured the concession. The Treasury is poweriess to handle Lee, but Mr. Chance has written to the collector of customs at Philadelphia to confer with the district attorney there to see if anything can be done in regard to the matter.

There are vague hints that Lee is the agent of Chinese companies in San Francisco. These companies are backed by highbinder and other organizations. When a concession is obtained, like that at Philaa concession is obtained, like that at Philadelphia, the Chinese companies go to Houg Kong and other places and put a price of something like $500 on the privilege of be-ing brought to the United States. If a Chinaman cannot pay the money he sells himself to the company and actually remains a slave in this country until he can make enough money to pay his way to free-dom. These matters are denied by Chinadom. These matters are denied by China-men and the Treasury officials have no way of proving them, but it is fully believed that this process is followed in such cases. It is stated that Chinamen will continue to come in and remain as long as Congress permits expositions to have exhibits of them.

Kill a Boy and Send Body to Father

YOKOHAMA, November 3, via Victoria. B. C., November 15.-An event which speaks for itself of the lawless state of the country bordering on and beyond the new territory, Kowloon, China, took place quite recently. A gang of desperadoes kidnaped a lad of seven years with a view of holding him for ransom. A message was sent to the father demanding of him a ransom somewhat beyond his means, and consequently the father could not pay it.

The captors, believing that he was able The captors, believing that he was able to raise the money if he wished, again sent to him, threatening that if the money was not sent within a specified time, the boy would be returned to him in pickle. The money not being sent they actually put their threat into effect, the dead body of the lad being returned to the father in a far of brine. The perpetrators of the crime are still at large and apparently the Chinese authorities are making no effort teasured.

GENERAL MARKET REPORTS

Special Dispatch to The Evening Star.

NEW YORK, November 15 .- The London markets were again active and higher and served to steady prices on this side to a considerable degree. Southern Pacific was the feature in London and foreign houses ook the bulk of the local offerings. There was some realizing in these shares around 43, something over 20,000 shares having been marketed by a single house within a fraction of that price. Notwithstanding the extent of this selling, the price held stubbornly and every attempt at depression

A rumor that the British had surrendered Ladysmith was used by traders to sell on for a time, but the prompt denial soon forced a recovery of the trifling losses.

A significant feature of this attack was that it was wholly professional and aimed at the industrial list in the hope of forcing sufficient liquidation to shake confidence elsewhere. Considering the limited size of the offerings the selling was too hasty to be lasting in its influence.

Some good semi-speculative buying of New York Central helped to sustain prices, the Boston and Albany consolidaion inspiring the demand. every exposition at which this has been prices, the Boston and Albany consolidation inspiring the demand.

The stock responded easily for a time, but the general market was too professional to contribute much to this process. One of the prominent characteristics of the recent trading has been the indifference of the public to the course of prices. There is almost no disposition to buy for a protracted movement and profit-taking is an incident of every moderate advance. The condition of the money market is wholly responsible for this neglect.

Activity in business has tended to emphasize the evils of a tight money market, and the business man prefers to keep his loan account exclusively for his commercial needs. To begin speculating on any considerable scale would force up rates and handicap him in arranging for the enterprises from which he hopes to derive a surplus for subsequent investment.

Stocks are likely to get the best attention immediately before a business boom or just after one. While it is at its height there is no time for the kind of attention essential to profitable dealings in the security markets. This argument is now being employed in explaining the waiting condition of the present market.

Money loaned throughout the day in good volume and at fair rates. Eight per cent loans no longer occasion any concern, since the knowledge that at some rate there is an ample supply for all needs. Around 7 per cent there was a good demand for money, and bankers seemed less anxious to

The confidence in an easier money market has increased during the last few days, and the present depleted surplus reserve is less commented upon because of the expectation that the amount will soon be made up

The market became very dull during the final trading and the character of the trading more professional. Prices held well, however, and in some instances, notably Pacific Mail, gained over the morning level.
